RETROSPECTIVE

- Communication was crucial in keeping the team and stakeholders informed about progress and any changes.
- The project was completed within the defined timeline, scope, and budget.
- The project outcome was evaluated against the initial objective to determine success.
- Lessons learned were documented for future reference and to improve processes for future projects.
- The project team celebrated the successful completion of the project and recognized team members for their contributions